

Alert Your Financial Institutions Before Traveling

Going on vacation? Imagine checking into a hotel only to find out your credit card accounts have been frozen. Be sure to call your credit card issuers ahead of time to let them know you'll be out of town--especially if it's an international trip. That way, you won't be blocked from using your credit cards when you need them most. Card issuers may do that--for your protection--when unusual activity appears in your account. So just let the issuer know when unusual activity is legit. If you have any questions feel free to call 815-937-7447 and speak with a Member Service Representative. They can put a note on your account if you are going out of town to avoid any hassle.